Tonight's Concert

23rd Sept 2019

Chris Stanbury

Chris is an accomplished keyboard player on the professional circuit. Hi's playing extends comfortably across the latest electronic instruments, jazz or classical piano to theatre or classical pipe organ, he dedicatedly applies skill and musicianship whether he's playing at a concert, social dance, theatre show or wedding party,

Chris was classically trained yet he is equally at home playing jazz and pop music, his music qualifications from the London College of Music include Bachelor of, and Master of Music degrees. His career has led him to perform at the Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris, playing a premiere of a jazz organ piece at the Duke's Hall, Royal Academy of Music, corporate functions and various tours of the Far East, both as a solo performer and session musician, and performances on national TV and BBC Radio 2. Chris combines a performing career with that of a music examiner for the London College of Music and that of teacher.

At home he keeps an extensive collection of new and vintage instruments. His present concert instrument is the Yamaha ELS-02X Stagea organ.

Forthcoming Concert

David Lingwood 28th Oct 2019

Age 7 at School David began learning to play the piano. At school he continued his education to an 'A' level course and subsequently a Music diploma course at college in Cambridge. His studies on the piano continued with a professor from the Royal College of Music in London and David also began training, as a singer and organist taking up the organ at age 20.

David trained in London to become a School Teacher and on completion of training became Head of Music at Littleport Village College. His career continued and he moved on to the same post at Cottenham Village College in Cambridgeshire. His performance career has led to appearance at the London Ritz and many festivals across the UK.

David plays a Technics C800 organ, Roland SP3 piano and Technics KN7000 keyboard and accompanies himself as a singer.

Review of our Recent Concert

19th August 2019 Dave Smith

Dave Smith had faced a difficult journey south to join us for the concert and had been detained behind a serious accident on the A1 fortunately he was neither involved nor prevented from arriving with just enough time to setup for the concert. It is some years since David now seventy four had played for us, as with us all the passage of time brings about changes yet his performance brought a full selection of music and provided good entertainment for most. It was an enjoyable evening. David played Roland Atelier AT80R organ which gave great sounds. An encore was called for and David provided an extended rendition of MacArthur Park met by enthusiastic applause.

1st Half

Theme from ET, Gabriel's oboe, April in Paris, Crazy, Lottery numbers, Schindler's List, Medley of sports themes, ending in Match of the day, Selection of Theatre Organ pieces, Selection of the songs he does with "The Tenorisimos"

2nd Half

Rhythm of Life, Beauty and the beast, Gagliardi, Strauss waltzes, Blue Moon, Nessun Dorma, Intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana, Armistice – Medley for Remembrance Sunday including Dambusters' March, 633 Squadron
